WESTFIELD'S UNDERGROUND RAILROAD HISTORY GOES PARANORMAL!

The spirit of the Underground Railroad has never been more alive and well than in Westfield! Historic Indiana Ghost Walks and Tours (part of Unseenpress.com, Inc.), a paranormal tour and book company and the Westfield Washington Historical Society have teamed up to present a special presentation of the highly popular Westfield Underground Railroad Ghost Walk on Tuesday October 18th as a fundraiser for Westfield's in-the-planning-stages History Museum. Tour sizes are restricted, so only a very limited number of spots are available – reserve your space now!

Hoosiers and visitors alike have enjoyed the year-round ghost tours and haunted getaways offered by Unseenpress. Learning about Westfield's rich Underground Railroad and pioneer history through paranormal connections is not to be missed!

Experts in Westfield history and the paranormal will be available for discussion, boo-licious treats and scary-good drinks! Each tour, which will last 1.5 hours, is filled with history and hauntings sure to put chills down the spines of the walkers- and who knows, it isn't uncommon to experience a ghost or two along the way!

Westfield was founded in 1834 by Asa Bales, Ambrose Osborne and Simon Moon, all Quakers from North Carolina trying to escape the slavery economy. The Westfield Washington Historical Society was founded—in 1997 to promote the exciting local history of the town and surrounding township.

Unseenpress.com, Inc's ghost tours are based on true accounts, folklore and the growing body of information being compiled daily by company researchers and videographers. The company was founded in 2001 and began tours in 2003. It has been featured on Fox 59, in the Noblesville Daily Times, in Better Homes and Gardens, as well as many ghost talk radio and ghost research newsletters.

To reserve your limited tickets call Diana Peyton at 896-5000 or Michael Kobrowski at 867-5594. Leave a voice mail with your name and how many tickets are required. You can also email webmaster@wwhs.us to reserve your tickets. Tickets are $10 for adults, $5 for children years 3-11. Children 2 and younger are free.
